2. Why do we process your personal data?

When you use one or more of our websites, we obtain certain information about you. This information may constitute personal data.

We may use the personal data we collect from you for the following purposes:

- Making our website available and ensuring that it functions properly.
- Using cookies.
- Contacting you at your request, for example in response to a question submitted by email.

We will not use your personal data for any other purposes unless you have given your prior consent or we are permitted or required to do so by law.

We process your personal data on the following legal bases:

- It is necessary for the purposes of our gerechtvaardigd belang (legitimate interest). In doing so, we first carefully assess whether our interest genuinely outweighs your privacy interests. We inform you about this through this privacy and cookie statement and, in addition, provide you with the right to object to such processing; or
- We have asked you for your prior consent. You may withdraw the consent you have given at any time.

2.1. Cookies

Our websites use cookies and similar technologies. A cookie is a small text file that is sent to and stored on your computer, tablet and/or mobile device when you visit our website.

The information stored in the cookie may be sent back to our own secure servers or to the servers of the relevant third parties when you visit the website again. For ease of reading, all such technologies are referred to as 'cookies' in this statement.

The following types of cookies are used on our websites.

Functional cookies

These cookies are used to ensure that certain parts of the website function properly and to store the preferences you have specified.

An example is the function that remembers the page you most recently visited, allowing you to return directly to that page.

Analytical cookies

Google Analytics cookies are used to gain insight into how you use our website. These cookies enable us, for example, to see which pages or sections of the website you visit and how long your visit lasts.

We use these insights to further improve the website and make it more user-friendly.

For further information, please refer to Google's privacy statement and DPF-certificering (DPF certification).

Social media cookies

These cookies are used to place buttons from, for example, Meta, YouTube, X and LinkedIn on our website, allowing you to follow us.

Social media cookies also make it possible to embed X posts relating to NUOVO and/or our schools on our websites.

For further information, please refer to the privacy statement and DPF-certificering (DPF certification) of Meta; the privacy statement and DPF certification of Google (for YouTube); the privacy statement and DPF certification of LinkedIn; and the privacy statement and DPF certification of X.

3. What personal data do we process?

For the purposes described above, we may process the following personal data:

- NAW-gegevens (name and address details).
- Personal data relating to your website visit, such as browser and geographical data.
- Cookie ID.

- IP address.
- Other personal data that you enter into one of our contact forms.

We do not necessarily use all of these data at all times. In many cases, we only use a limited number of the types of data listed above. The specific data we collect and use depends on the purpose for which we process the data.

4. How do we handle your personal data?

When processing personal data, we always apply the principle of necessity. We will not process more personal data than is necessary to achieve the purposes described above.

This also means that we will not use personal data for purposes other than those specified in this statement.

5. Security

The security of personal data is of great importance to us. We take appropriate measures to ensure that your data is properly secured. For example, we ensure that only those persons who require access to your data have such access, that access to your data is appropriately protected and that our security measures are regularly reviewed. In addition, all our websites use SSL-certificaten (SSL certificates) to ensure the secure transmission of your data and communications.

5.1. Sharing personal data with other organisations

In some cases, we may disclose your personal data to other companies or organisations because:

- We have engaged them to provide support or services to us.
- This is necessary to perform an agreement with you.
- We have a gerechtvaardigd belang (legitimate interest) in doing so.
- We are legally required to do so, for example where the police require the information in connection with a suspicion of a criminal offence.

The following categories of third parties may process your personal data:

- Our ICT service providers, including our website administrator.
- Mailing services used to send messages or emails.
- Our cookie service providers.

6. What are your rights?

You have a number of rights in relation to your personal data. These rights are established by law and you may exercise them at any time. For example, you may always submit a request to obtain access to the personal data we process about you. You may also submit a request to have your data rectified, its processing restricted, or the data completely erased from NUOVO's systems. You have the right to have inaccurate data corrected or incomplete data supplemented. We will then ensure, where applicable, that this data is also amended by organisations with which we have shared and/or exchanged the data.

If you request that your personal data be restricted or erased, we will assess whether this is possible. In carrying out this assessment, we will comply with the applicable legal requirements. For example, we will consider whether we have a legal obligation to retain the data.

You also have the right to request that the personal data we process about you and that you have provided to us be transferred to you or, at your request, to another organisation. NUOVO will not make decisions concerning you that are based solely on automated processing of personal data (profiling). Decisions will never be made without human intervention.

If you disagree with the way in which we handle your personal data, you may at any time request clarification from our Functionaris voor Gegevensbescherming (Data Protection Officer). Please see the contact details at the end of this statement.

If you believe that your concern has not been adequately resolved, you may report the matter to the Autoriteit Persoonsgegevens (Dutch Data Protection Authority) at www.autoriteitpersoonsgegevens.nl.

7. Changes to this privacy and cookie statement

When changes are made to our website, we may also need to amend this privacy and cookie statement. Please therefore always check the date on the title page or in the footer of this document, and regularly check the website for new versions. We will do our best to announce changes separately as well.
